May 19, 1985.

To the Senate:

I herewith return without approval Senate bill No. 377, entitled an act "To amend and re-enact sections 3. 8, 6 and 17 of an act entitled an act to regulate the holding of city and ward primary elections in the city of Norfolk, Va., approved March 5, 1884, and to repeal section 4 of said set."

are amended, and section 3, as amend-ed, is substituted for section 4 of the orig-inal act, which is entirely repealed. Section 3 prescribes that in primaries a majority of the "candidates for the offices to be voted for at said ensuing general election, or for delegates to city, sena-

to be voted for at said ensuing general election, or for delegates to city, 'senatorial, district or State convention, or for members of the City Executive Committee," shall elect an electoral board, who, in turn, shall appoint the judges and clerks of the precincts and wards to conduct the election.

The chief vice of the amendment consists in allowing a mere majority of such candidates to provide the election officers without safeguarding the rights of the minority candidates. In the repealed section it required a two-thirds vote of such candidates, but in the amended section a majority alone of such candidates have the sole conduct of primary elections. Therefore, the plan admits of the control of elections by nominal candidates. The section repealed is not very well safegarded, but it does not seem consenant with the Legislature's efforts to reform the elections of the State to go from bad to worse.

bad to worse, obvious reasons time is not at my sand to give detailed objections to full. Suffice it to say that the bill conand impairs the original act, adds ng whatever to its efficiency, and in respects seriously undermines the end to be attained by primary ons, which is to secure a majority e people the right to nominate their sentatives.

THE FACTION OPPOSED, passage of the bill had been opty the faction of Democratic party orfolk known as the Dey faction was advocated by that known as rehy faction. A snari ensued at the general primary in Norfolk aver very matters involved in this bill, not time the plan provided that the rittee, and many dummy candidates

Scene of Gay Festivity at St. Edith's Academy on Monday Night.

On Monday evening St. Edith Academy, Bristow, Va., was the scene of gay fusivity, a barquot having been given by he young ladies in honor of their gradies, Miss Lacila McEvoy, of Richmond, A. For several days previous elaborate organations were made, resulting in a lost pleasing effect.

The wide veranda surrounding the ceiling and entwined around the massive pillar.

The long tables, with their snowy napery, gleaning silver, glassware and beautiful flowers, were most inviting. The graduates table seated twenty. Among its attractions was a large coke, a gift of the faculty, adorned with twenty candles. Here the merry peals of laughter continued until the "wee smallhours," when reluctantly, with lingering footsteps, all crept softly along the corridors until their respective apartments were reached, where, with hear's filled with memories of the joyous evening spent, they commended themselves into the arms of Morpheus.

The Episcopal Council of the Diocese of Virginia will meet to-day in Wincheser in regular annual session.
All the local clergy of the denomination will be in attendance, and there will be a number of laymen along. Bishop Gibson will preside, and the session will con-tinue for several days. A number of im-portant matters are up for consideration, and the meeting will probably be a lively and interesting one. Ample provision for the entertainment of the members has been made by the Episcopalians of Winchester.

OPPOSE A CHANGE.

Perhaps the greatest interest during the meeting will center in the proposed change in the name of the church, which proposition will come before the council officially this year. There will probably follow an interesting discussion, the result of which will be a decided stand by the officially this year. There will probably follow an interesting discussion, the result of which will be a decided stand by the body against the suggestion. An overwhelming majority will support a resolution entering the formal protest of the body against the innovation.

The proposition is, perhaps, the livest issue in the church to-day. Much discussion is being given to it and much argument is being made by those who are discussified with the present name and want it changed. Opposition is springing up at every point, however, and the movement will probably be swamped. The Diocese of Virginia contains a vast majority who are steadfastly opposed to the change. The Southern Churchman, of this city, struck the keynote last week, when, in the course of a long editorial on the subject, it said:

"However wearisome the subject may become—and doubtlers to a large number of church people it will grow very weari-

become—and doubters to a large number of church people it will grow very weari-some indeed—the discussion as to a change of name for this Church will, in come of this movement and discussion may be, the agitation itself will do good. We fall utterly to see where any such good can come in, or how it can be done. The only good thing we can conceive of in connection with the movement is that it shall be so effectually defeated as to discourage any effort looking to its revival for at least two or three generations. This might prove, at least, some small compensation for the agitation: because rest is never so well enjoyed as when it is well carned."

There will, of course, be the regular business of the Council to be transacted. Considerable attention will be given to missions. There will also be a proposition to establish the office of archdeacon for work among the whites.

"A LIGHT BOOZE" Do You Drink It? A minister's wife had quite a tussle with coffee and her experience is interesting. She says: "During the two years of my training as a nurse while on night duty I became addicted to coffee drinking, for between midnight and four in the morning, when the patients were asleep, there was little to do except make the rounds, and it was quite natural that I should want a good, hot cup of coffee about that time, It stimulated me and I could keep awake better. "After three or four years of coffee drinking I became a nervous wreck and thought simply could not live without my coffee this time I was subject to frequent billious attacks, sometimes so severe as to keep me in bed for several days. After being married, husband begged me to leave off coffee, for he feared that it had already hurt me almost beyond repair, so I resolved to make an effort and release myself from the hurtful habit. I began taking Postum Food Coffee and for a few days felt the languid, tired feeling from the lack of the stimulant, but I liked the taste of Postum and that answered for the breakfast beverage all right. "Finally I began to feel clearer headed and had steadier nerves. After a year's use of Postum I now feel like a new woman. Have not had any billous attacks since I left off coffee." This lady requests that her name be kept from public print. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Michigan.
